

Use of E-mail Disclosure

Please keep in mind that communications via email over the internet are not secure. Although it is unlikely, there is a possibility that information you include in an email can be intercepted and read by other parties besides the person to whom it is addressed.

Please avoid sending identifying medical information like date of birth and personal health information over email. If you do so, please acknowledge that you accept this risk.

---

Patient Signature

---

Date